Edward H. Dixon, M. D., Editor of The Scalpel, attends exclusively to Operative Surgery and Office Coccutations on the more obscure diseases of the Felvic Viscera. Piles, Fistula, Fissure and Prolapsus, are cured by a process comparatively painless, and without the knife or ligature, or the least confinemented from business. Dr. D. refers to a great number of citizens in almost every part of the Union, on whom he has operated. Every case can be pronounced curable, or otherwise on examination, as the conditions are always apparent to the practical observer.

Office hours from 1 to 3 daily, and 7 to 9 evenings, at No. 42 5th av. At all other hours he is at his private Hospital, where every comfort of domestic life is provided for taose who require surgical operations or careful dietatic treatment.

The Times Buildings .- The best place in the Unit

The Times Buildings.—The best place in the United States to construct a fine building was the spot in front of the Park where the building now stands of The New York Times. It is surrounded by streets on all sides; it makes a small block by itself; it fronts on the City Hall Park, and is shooded with light from all quarters from the rising to the setting sun. The best place in this central spot of tasts, becomes and splendor, was taken for a RESTAURANT by CROOK & DUFF, and since they opened it last Spring it has been crowded. They give the earliests breakfasts and the latest dinners that are to be haddlown town, and at prices which amuzed us when we looked at their Bill of Fare. The entrances are from Parkrow and Nassau-t, up stairs for the Restsoyant, and down stairs for the Lunch Room, Ac. The whole earablishment is maintained with the utmost degree of elegance and convenience for the guests, and with a system of economy and rapidity of execution of orders which surpasses the expectation of every guest.—[From Daily Times. AN ORIGINAL LETTER NEW BOOKS, NEW BOOKS

NEW BOOKS,

RUDD & CARLETON Publish Te-Day MRS. UMSTED'S NEW NOVEL, SOUTHWOLD: A SOCIETY NOVEL. BY MRS. LILLIE DEVEREUX UMSTEAD. One volume 12mo , meslin. Price, $1.

uthwold is a fiction of much more than ordinary merit the thoroughly blass novel-reader cannot fail to be interested in it.

"It is written with care and elegance, indicative of a refined and cultivated taste, while there is a vivacity sparkling through every page that relieves it from the heaviness of mere rheotrical elaboration. The plot, without shocking probabilities, is original, and no reader can suspect the decomment until gratified and startled by the hold it takes upon the imagination. Incident follows incident in natural progression, and the interest completely aroused and absorbed, is never for an instant suffered to flag."

SOUTHWOLD;
THE NEW NOVEL.
"A great charm of the work is the admirable delineation of character and the number of sprightly conversations that present to the mind each some vividy, as a perfect resulty, whether DRAWING ROOM, BALL.

"The society of which it treats is that of American gentlefolks, described with tact and truth, and an eavy familiarity, enturely free from either vulgar ignorance or stilled exaggeration.
As a society novel, it is, with hardly an exception, one of the most consummately managed and alluring books which we have ever read."

A CAPITAL ENGLISH BOOK. A NEW SCHOOL TALE: ERIC: OR, LITTLE BY LITTLE.

(Reprinted from the English Edition.) BY FREDERICK W. FARRER (Fellow of Trinity College, Cambridge).

1 Vol., 12me. Muslip. Price $1. OPINIONS OF THE ENGLISH PRESS:

From The Morning Chronicle.

The reader lingering over these pages is recalled, as if by enchantment, to the days of scholastic boyhood. No book since the advent of

SCHOOL-DAYS AT RUGBY has given such an admirable picture of inner school life as the volume before us."

"It is pleasant to preface our notice of this work by a genuine conviction that it is one of the most charming and touching of books that it has ever been our but to read. Written apparently for the immediate perusal of that class of readers more peculistly identified with the principal characters described, yet the book is one which appeals most powerfully to the hearts of all who have hearts to feel and minds to think. Apart from its gencrait endency, from which an admirable moral may be derived, the powerful and diversified interest of the tale itself eannot fall of
reader."

From The London Dally News.

"As a story, Easte bas the important quality of being interesting. No one who begins it is likely to leave it unfinished."

From The London Guardian.

"Apart from the Interest, the story will commend itself by its touching narrative of temptation and servey, and its solemn illustration of the early strife between good and evil, to all who remember the days of their youth, or feel for the generation which succeeds them in the journey of life."

OR, LITTLE BY LITTLE. A NEW SCHOOL TALE.

ERIC:

We cannot quit the volume without recommending it to the rusal of perents and schoolmasters."

TO BOOKSELLERS.

The extraordinary popularity of this capital tale of School-life, and its surprising sale in England, cannot fall to make it a work much sought after and of standard merit in this country, where the success of "SCHOOL DAYS AT RUGBY" has become a certainty. The publishers, therefore, feel no apprehension in orging Booksellers to order ERIC in large quarties. The book is printed with large, clear type, upon fine calendered paper, and is lessed with particularly handsome and attractive exterior.

Now Ready.

The following recently published books. FIRST: BUCKLAND'S CURIOSITIES

NATURAL HISTORY. 12mo., muslin. Illustrated. Price $1 25. From the London Edition.

From The Portland Transcript.

"We are glad to get hold of a copy of this book. The notices of the the Legisla Reviews had prepared us to find it one of the most interesting works on Natural History yet published, and we have not been disappointed. The author, the son of the late celebrated geologist, Dr. Buchland, is a close observer, and gives the results of his observations in a lively, popular style."

From The Philadelphia Saturday Post.

"A gay book of science, showing up to alively colloquial way, the nature, habits and characteristics of beasts bids and fishes. The author, well known in England both as an industrious scientifician and a dashing young surgeon in the Life Goards, proves himself in this work to be, not only a clever humorist, but a minute and accourate observer." rest control.

SECOND. ETHEL'S LOVE-LIFE.

By Mrs. M. J. M. Sweat.

I vol. 12mo., muella. Price $1.

From The New-York Home Journal.

"This charming volume is a series of love letters, written by Ethel to her betrothed, giving the shistory of her affairs of the heart, from early girlhood up to the time that she and her affameed meet no more to be parted. No love-letters since the days of a belard and Heloise have appeared, that are more sweetly attractive, or come home closer to the hearts of all than those contained in this volume. Each letter is a love poem told in proce—a passage from the book of a maiden's heart."

ETHEL'S LOVE-LIFE.

ETHEL'S LOVE-LIFE.

From The Boston Ledger.

"This little history of the deep and fainomiess experiences of a human heart is contained in the form of a series of letters, and is the firshest and most captivating reading we have had this long time. It is no mere sentiment, but the rescords—simply, trally and most exquisitely set down—of a profound and all-absorbing Lova.

"Its authoress may consider ner mark in literature made. Such a volume is not an every-day production; it contains the sacred and profound experiences of a truly noble, and rich, and beautiful soul. We heartily commend the perusal to all those who know, or seek to know, aught of the deep mysteries and the eternal readities of Love."
